Chris,

Next year -- we'll be on the NASDAQ and laugh about this.

Rik,

You know I have confidence in you. I made a poor choice in my words that were typed in response.
Which quickly were corrected.

Thank you for understanding.

Retraction. We do have confidence in you. That's the only reason we work with you. You are honest and do what you say. But its the timing. So lets me clarify that.

We don't care if its 1 week, or 6 more months.

But if someone say next week, 5 weeks in a row, its causes concern.

I trust you understand,

Chris,

We obviously see the value of your list -- but it seems to only have value when Sean McManus is calling your people.

When I ask my Board to re-hire you, their only response is that we've have over 10 low-volume days and 4 NO-Volume days while you were under contract. The No-Volume days are especially troubling. How do I tell my Board that you couldn't get one single share of stock into somebody's hands while you're being paid to do that.

I know your response -- "NEWS". Well, we had news during this last contract and we had the See Thru Equity report that put a $0.53 price on the stock.

We have news coming out -- but I don't have a lot of confidence that you can actually bring in consistent volume.

All of that being said -- SHOW ME SOMETHING WITHOUT SEAN. There's 2 hours of trading left today. Another 30K share puts us back at $0.20. If we can close at $0.20 again -- we've got a deal and then some. Hell -- just have us close up!! One trade puts us back at $0.17.
